77 MINERS ENTOMBED IN NEW ENGLAND MINE

EXPLOSION OCCURRED ON SATURDAY

16 BODIES HAVE BEEN RECOVERED, 16 MEN ESCAPED ALIVE

THE EVERETTSMINE HAS WORKINGS THREE MILES LONG

Fairmont, W. Va., May 2.—(UP)—Rescue alive of nine miners entombed for nearly 40 hours gave hope to rescue squads working with feverish energy today that 77 men still in the flaming underground tomb of the New England Fuel & Transportation Company mine at Lowsville may have escaped death.

The nine miners who with 100 of their fellow workers were endangered late Saturday afternoon when an explosion occurred far down in the mine, were brought to safety today but were too exhausted to describe the condition of those left behind.

Seven others in hospitals here and in surrounding towns were recovering today from their injuries and burns and none was believed in a precarious condition.

Sixteen are known dead as a result of the blast believed to have been caused by an explosion of after damp in the shaft.

The interior of the mine is afire, rescue squads said as they came to the surface today for equipment to fight the new peril. Intense heat is bellowing up the shaft and the rescuers were unable to penetrate beyond the 3,500 foot level.

Equipment and men from Wheeling and other West Virginia towns has been sent to aid in the rescue work.

The indication of fire burning under ground caused Robert Lambey, chief mine inspector of West Virginia, and several aides to express the fear that the entombed miners have been scorched to death if they were not killed by the first explosion.

Lambey said that the explosion was similar to that at Dunwood, W. Va., two years ago in which 119 miners lost their lives.

Officials at the mine and rescuers however, hoped that the trapped men had been able to flee from the flames and reach fire proof recesses in the mine.

Fairmont, W. Va., May 2.—With little hope remaining for the rescue alive of 77 men entombed in the workings of the mine No. 3 of the New England Fuel & Transportation Co. at Everettville, Robert M. Lambie, chief of the West Virginia bureau of mines, this afternoon ordered ambulances and a special train to remain in readiness near the mine entrance.

The train would carry the men—either dead or alive—to Arnettsville. From there, if living and injured, they would be removed to Fairmont and Morgantown hospitals.

The death toll today stood at 15, while seven men were injured and nine escaped alive after Saturday's terrific explosion.

Fairmont, W. Va., May 2.—Seventy-seven miners were entombed in the Everettville mine of the New England Fuel & Transportation Company today, 40 hours after an explosion Saturday afternoon.

Sixteen bodies have been recovered and 16 men escaped alive, company officials said, reporting that 109 men were at work in the mine when the explosion occurred.

The fate of the entombed men was a matter of conjecture today. While certain experts despaired of rescuing them alive, it was pointed out that the mine was a very long one, and that some of the miners might have found refuge in isolated sections and protected themselves from the gas and fire by the erection of improvised brattices.

The Everettville mine, one of the largest in the field, reaches for three miles underground. Most of the gas and smoke produced by the explosion and resultant fire was in the southern end of the workings, and it is thought at least some of the entombed men might have found refuge in the northern section.

Rescue workers, however, are making slow progress in penetrating the mine, being forced to erect brattices as they go along.

R. M. Lambie, chief of the state bureau of mines, left here early today to rally his rescue forces for the final drive to rescue the men, or remove their bodies—depending on what fate has been theirs. The

MISSOURI MAN KILLS WIFE, THREE CHILDREN AND SELF

Keytesville, Mo., May 2.—(UP)—Peter Johnson killed his wife and three children and then committed suicide at the Johnson home here yesterday. A neighbor found Johnson's body, throat cut, under a tree in the yard. Investigation revealed the bodies of a 10-year-old girl and a 6-year-old boy in the house. Another boy died at noon and Mrs. Johnson in the afternoon. All died from the effects of hammer blows on the head. The coroner returned a verdict of murder and suicide. Cause of Johnson's madness was not known.

WOMAN SAID SHE NEVER MADE HUSBAND UNHAPPY

MRS. RUTH SNYDER DENIES PARTICIPATING IN HIS MURDER

IS RESOLUTE AND GENERALLY COMPOSED ON WITNESS STAND

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Courtroom, Long Island City, L. I., May 2.—A woman who never did anything to make her husband unhappy—at least "nothing that he ever knew about"—sat in a high witness chair today and denied she participated in his murder.

Ruth Snyder, resolute and generally composed, swore that her lover, and co-defendant, Judd Gray, acted alone in the slaying of Albert Snyder, who was pictured as a husband who trusted his wife implicitly and paid her the compliment of access to all his funds. Yet she swore she neither hated him nor loved him—in fact, was unable to analyze her feelings toward him.

Snyder quarreled with her, the witness said, but during their married life she was a good housewife and mother, so far as his opinion was concerned.

Snyder never knew, she said, that she consorted with Judd Gray, that she gave him money, that she at one time "framed" a divorce case (although no suit was filed) or that she was unfaithful to him.

Snyder she pictured as a man who gave her a home, clothing and $85 of his $115 weekly salary and never asked disturbing questions.

Throughout the morning session she was cross-examined by counsel for Gray and for the state.

William Millard, Gray's attorney, spoke slowly and carefully and made her cry.

Charles Froessell, assistant district attorney, spoke harshly, "barked" at her, gestured at her and made her answer sharply.

But neither was able to force an admission that she urged Judd Gray to help kill her husband to collect $56,000 in life insurance.

The Ruth Snyder who Gray says was too much for him also was too much for the attorneys who sought to penetrate through her cold mask.

Soon after court opened, Mrs. Snyder, resuming her testimony, was turned over to Gray's attorneys for questioning. Immediately she was in the unusual position of defending herself against the attacks of a co-defendant.

WEEK-END AUTO ACCIDENTS TAKE TOLL OF TWO LIVES

St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—(UP)—Week-end automobile accidents took a toll of two lives and resulted in injuries to several others here.

Albert Rivet, 27, was killed when he attempted to crank his truck in his garage while it was in gear.

Mrs. Mary Young, 75, died of injuries received when struck by an automobile. Police are investigating the cause of the accident.

Everettville mine, known as Federal Mine No. 3, is four miles away.

It will be late today before the men can possibly be reached, rescue workers estimated.

DARING EFFORT TO KIDNAP RICH CHILD

CHICAGO POLICE FRUSTRATE PLANS OF A CHICAGO BAND

THUS SOUGHT TO RAISE MONEY FOR DEFENSE FUND FOR ACCUSED MURDERER

By EDWIN L. HECKLER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, May 2.—A daring attempt to kidnap the grandchild of a Chicago millionaire in an effort to raise funds to save an accused murderer from the gallows, has been frustrated, police admitted today.

Plans had been completed to seize either John Shedd Schweppe, 9, or his sister, Jean 11, to be held for ransom. Chief of Detectives William O'Connor told the United Press. They were to have been held for ransom in an attempt to raise funds to free Henry J. (Midge) Ferenkes, who is now serving a jail term for robbery, and is awaiting a new trial on a murder charge.

The Schweppes are grandchildren of the late John G. Shedd of Marshall Field & Co.

"The plot was hatched by Ferenkes from his jail cell," O'Connor said. "It was to be carried out by his wife and a band of helpers. They would demand $1,000,000 for ransom for the child, and then would rove from spot to spot to avoid detection."

"We have known of the plot for a week, and we even knew the child they intended to take the place. However, we discovered the plan in time, and although we are still keeping a guard about the Schweppe place, we are confident we halted their design."

While officers believe Ferenkes concocted the kidnapping scheme, they also believe that the men who kidnaped "Jackie" Adler and Frank "Sapho" Galleo, wealthy night club owners, recently were to have aided in carrying it out.

Ferenkes was once sentenced to hang, but on April 21 he was granted a new trial and in the meantime is serving part of a sentence for robbery. He is known as a desperate man, and police believed he would try a jail delivery if he is unsuccessful in his attempt to save his neck legally.

'SAFE CRACKERS' STEAL WHOLE SAFES

St. Paul, May 2.—(UP)—Police here are of the opinion that to be a "safe cracker" one must have knowledge and ability in the business of moving safes. During the last few weeks small safes have been stolen from business houses and filling stations.

Today a ton safe was carted out of a grain and feed store with a small hand truck and opened several blocks away. The robbers escaped with approximately $500.

NEGRO OF 16 CONFESSES TO KILLING GIRL

WHITE GIRL, AGE 11, DISAPPEARED FROM HER HOME NEAR LITTLE ROCK

ANGRY MOB SWEEPS THROUGH CITY TRYING TO FIND CULPRIT

Little Rock, Ark., May 2.—(UP)—Police today continued to guard carefully the whereabouts of Lonnie Dixon, 16, negro, who confessed yesterday he killed 11-year-old Floella McDonald, white girl who disappeared from her home here last April 12.

An angry mob swept through the city last night seeking to find the negro. Dixon confessed he had murdered the child in the basement of the First Presbyterian church here and then carried her body to the belfry.

The body was found Saturday by Frank Dixon, janitor of the church, Lonnie's father. Dixon and his son were arrested with several other negroes and questioned in connection with the murder. After a night of questioning, Lonnie yesterday told police he had killed Floella.

When the word swept through the city yesterday, a mob quickly formed and threatened the jail where the negro was being held. Police spirited Dixon out of town and the mob dispersed, only to form again and last night a country wide search was conducted by 1,000 angry citizens.

Jails in and near Little Rock were stormed and searched, but the negro could not be located. Several persons in the mob were arrested.

YANGTZE RIVER IS SCENE OF FIRING BETWEEN SHORE AND SHIPS

BRITISH ADMIRALTY COMMUNIQUE MADE PUBLIC TODAY

London, May 2.—(UP)—Further exchange of fire between Chinese on shore and British warships in the Yangtze river was reported in an admiralty communiqué today.

It was authoritatively reported also that the British representative at Hankow had protested to the nationalist government there against the occupation of the British consulate and other British property at Ching Kiang.

The admiralty communiqué said H. M. S. Teal, with a convoy of lighters and tugs, was fired on by Chinese Saturday afternoon at Morrison's Point. The Teal and H. M. S. Kiawo were fired on Sunday from Tungchow. The Kiawo was hit by three shells, but there were no casualties and the damage was slight. The fire was returned and a British shell struck the parapet of a Chinese gun.

SPURRED BY SENTIMENT OF MAY DAY LABOR

BITTER STRUGGLE FORECAST IN PARLIAMENTARY CLASHES

MEASURE WOULD FORBID GENERAL STRIKES, ARBITRARY COLLECTION OF DUES

Police of nearly every country in Europe and the Americas were on guard against violence at May Day meetings yesterday, but the celebration of the great radical rallying day passed almost without violence.

In Oslo, Norway, trades unions adopted resolutions threatening a boycott of American goods unless Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of murder in South Braintree, Mass., were freed. Labor groups in many other countries also urged that they be released.

Twelve persons were injured and 100 arrested in riots in Warsaw. In London, Paris, Moscow, Buenos Aires, Tokio and American cities, Great meetings were held, but the celebrants were peaceful.

London, May 2.—(UP)—Spurred by sentiment created at 3,000 May Day labor meetings throughout England, labor leaders in parliament today prepared for their fight on the government's trade unions restriction bill. A bitter struggle was forecast.

The measure, which came up for second reading in the house of commons today, would prohibit general strikes, forbid arbitrary collection of dues from union members and otherwise restrict activities of labor organizations. The government planned to introduce an amendment under which lockouts by combination of employers also would be prohibited.

If the bill passes, the first act of the next labor government will be to repeal it, labor leaders said.

Yesterday's May Day demonstration at Hyde Park was impressive. One hundred thousand men, women and children, concentrated there after parades through various parts of the city, waved red flags while speeches in three languages were delivered in competition with the Footguards' band giving its usual Sunday concert in a bandstand nearby.

The trades union bill was attacked in English, Esperanto and Chinese.

Paris, May 2.—May Day was celebrated by immense crowds but without violence in most European cities, reports from United Press correspondents showed today.

It was the first May Day without violence in Paris since the war. Nevertheless, a great crowd gathered at "Red Hill" in Saint Gervais, a suburb, for the demonstration of the communist faction of the general federation of labor and the red international syndicate committee. An immense flag, inscribed with "Death to Bourgeois Intellectuals," flown.

A new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, sentenced to die for a payroll holdup murder in South Braintree, Mass., was demanded at a Berlin demonstration. One hundred thousand attended.

Half a million civilians paraded past the tomb of Lenin in Moscow. Fifty silver trumpets in "Red Square," which was festooned with red banners, opened the celebration. The full diplomatic corps was present.

The day was quiet in Vienna. Demonstrations were forbidden in Jugo-Slavia, Roumania, Hungary and Poland. The only violence was reported in Warsaw where 12 persons were injured and 100 arrested in clashes between police and communists.

The government forbade proposed demonstrations in Jerusalem, fearing clashes between socialists, communists and other workers.

Tokio, May 2.—Twenty thousand workers, including 2,000 women, paraded in a quiet May Day celebra-

APRIL WEATHER NOT FAVORABLE FOR FARMING

Washington, May 2.—(UP)—April weather conditions were unfavorable to an early farming season, the agriculture department said today.

Inundation of cotton lands will have effect on cotton acreage, while rain and frosts in the west caused delay in spring work and widespread damage to fruit and grain, the department stated.

Southern truck crops and fruits are progressing satisfactorily although frost has damaged some fruit blossoms.

SLAYING OF CLIFFORD M. HICKS NOW INVESTIGATED

ASSOCIATED WITH FORMER GOVERNOR OF MISSOURI IN LAW PRACTICE

BODY, BEARING SIX BULLET WOUNDS, FOUND IN BUSHES

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—(UP)—The slaying of Clifford M. Hicks, 29, associated with former Governor Elliot W. Major in the practice of law here, was under investigation today by police.

His body, bearing six bullet wounds, was found in a clump of bushes in St. Louis county yesterday by an equestrian. Apparently Hicks had been murdered only a short time before the body was discovered.

Authorities worked on the theory that Hicks was shot by bandits who held him up on the afternoon of April 20, and robbed him of $5,000. It is believed he recognized the robbers and they feared identification.

Glenn Hicks, a brother of the slain man, said the young attorney had been warned several times since the holdup to leave the city, but had ignored the anonymous threats.

Hicks apparently was kidnapped, carried to the country road where his body was found and there shot to death. Position of the wounds indicated that he was shot first while his hands were in the air and more bullets pumped into the body as it lay on the ground.

Hicks was last seen Saturday night. His widow, prostrate with grief, could give no information helpful to police.

DESPONDENT OVER LONESOME WAY OF LIVING

Jackson, Minn., May 2.—(UP)—Despondency over a lonesome existence as a result of the death of the wife and mother is believed to have been the reason for the suicidal actions of Claus Walters, 72, and his son. They were found hanging from the rafters of a barn on their farm near here.

Mrs. Walters died several years ago and the husband and only son were known to have brooded since. Authorities announced they had been dead several days before found by neighbors.

Two thousand police guarded the city.

Buenos Aires, May 2.—Resolutions expressing sympathy with Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were passed at May Day celebrations here. Police had taken extra precautions to prevent violence.

Mexico City, May 2.—Appeals for a new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti—one of them made by speakers at a communist demonstration in front of the United States consulate—and attacks on the Catholic church marked May Day celebrations here.

Oslo, Norway, May 2.—The United States legation here today had in its possession a formal resolution of the Norwegian trades unions threatening a boycott on American goods if Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti are executed.

The union men would refuse to transport or load any merchandise of American manufacture, under terms of the resolution, adopted at a May Day celebration.

CLAIM EFFORTS OF BANDS OF RESCUE WORKERS

WATER TRICKLING THROUGH ARKANSAS RIVER LEVEES FOR DAYS

LEVEES OF FOUR RIVERS HAVE GIVEN WAY IN STATE OF ARKANSAS

By GERALD P. OVERTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Memphis, Tenn., May 2.—New floods in southeastern Arkansas and northeastern Louisiana today claimed the concentrated efforts of rescue workers.

Water has been trickling through Arkansas river levees for two days and large sections are inundated. Levees of the Mississippi, Red, Ouachita and Black rivers have given way in Arkansas and Louisiana, flooding thousands of acres.

Some of the territory has been evacuated, but thousands are marooned by the flood waters and must be removed to safety by boat. Other land, toward which the river is flowing rapidly, must be cleared of inhabitants promptly if their lives are to be saved.

Five Louisiana parishes with a total area of more than 3,000 square miles are endangered by water pouring through four breaks in the main levee of the river below Vidalia, La., opposite Natchez, Miss.

Practically the whole of Concordia Parish has already been covered with water, which is now reaching out over adjoining parishes.

Although the breaks below Vidalia have somewhat relieved pressure on the protecting dykes at other points, army engineers momentarily feared new and disastrous breaks.

A valiant fight was made to save the levee below Vidalia but the flood brushed aside the rows of sandbags with which the levee was topped and swept on into Concordia Parish.

Warnings to evacuate their homes immediately were sent out to all inhabitants of the territory threatened by the Vidalia breaks.

Red Cross workers and national guardsmen manned a large fleet of boats to remove inhabitants from sections where the rise of the water came so rapidly that retreat was cut off.

The entire Louisiana national guard is mobilized for rescue work and for days the Red Cross flood relief organization has been concentrating boats in the river below Natchez.

With rescue work being pushed ahead of the actual crest of the flood the relief organization is confident there will be no serious loss of life such as that which occurred when the high waters ravaged Mississippi and Arkansas.

Inhabitants of the Louisiana backlands which may have been inundated, have been given ample warning and the number of boats on hand for rescue work is the largest ever gathered under Red Cross direction.

Flood waters of the Arkansas river, liberated by a break last week in the levee at South Bend, Ark., continued their sweep through southeastern Arkansas rendering many more homeless in that territory.

Word reached rescue headquarters of another break in the levee of the Yazoo river north of Yazoo City, Miss., already partially inundated. The new torrents drove 5,000 or more persons from their homes in the territory near Yazoo City, to the American Red Cross refugee camps.

On the river between Baton Rouge, and New Orleans the army of levee workers is continuing its efforts to strengthen the dikes with sandbags and mattresses.

Natchez, Miss., and Baton Rouge, La., will become the concentration points for Louisiana refugees. Vicksburg, Miss., is already jammed with 10,000 refugees from Arkansas and Mississippi and cannot accommodate another influx of homeless.

The death toll in the flood area since the Mississippi disaster began is believed to have materially increased by the new floods but cannot be estimated accurately. Compilations by the United Press place the number of dead at approximately 350. It is estimated 10,500 square miles of territory is inundated.

When the word swept through the city yesterday, a mob quickly formed and threatened the jail where the negro was being held. Police spirited Dixon out of town and the mob dispersed, only to form again and last night a country wide search was conducted by 1,000 angry citizens.

Jails in and near Little Rock were stormed and searched, but the negro could not be located. Several persons in the mob were arrested.

CHINESE AND BRITISH SHIPS EXCHANGE FIRE

YANGTZE RIVER IS SCENE OF FIRING BETWEEN SHORE AND SHIPS

BRITISH ADMIRALTY COMMUNIQUE MADE PUBLIC TODAY

London, May 2.—(UP)—Further exchange of fire between Chinese on shore and British warships in the Yangtze river was reported in an admiralty communique today.

It was authoritatively reported also that the British representative at Hankow had protested to the nationalist government there against the occupation of the British consulate and other British property at Ching Kiang.

The admiralty communique said H. M. S. Teal, with a convoy of lighters and tugs, was fired on by Chinese Saturday afternoon at Morrison's Point. The Teal and H. M. S. Kiawo were fired on Sunday from Tungchow. The Kiawo was hit by three shells, but there were no casualties and the damage was slight. The fire was returned and a British shell struck the parapet of a Chinese gun.

SPURRED BY SENTIMENT OF MAY DAY LABOR

BITTER STRUGGLE FORECAST IN PARLIAMENTARY CLASHES

MEASURE WOULD FORBID GENERAL STRIKES, ARBITRARY COLLECTION OF DUES

Police of nearly every country in Europe and the Americas were on guard against violence at May Day meetings yesterday, but the celebration of the great radical rallying day passed almost without violence.

In Oslo, Norway, trades unions adopted resolutions threatening a boycott of American goods unless Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of murder in South Braintree, Mass., were freed. Labor groups in many other countries also urged that they be released.

Twelve persons were injured and 100 arrested in riots in Warsaw. In London, Paris, Moscow, Buenos Aires, Tokio and American cities, Great meetings were held, but the celebrants were peaceful.

London, May 2.—(UP)—Spurred by sentiment created at 3,000 May Day labor meetings throughout England, labor leaders in parliament today prepared for their fight on the government's trade unions restriction bill. A bitter struggle was forecast.

The measure, which came up for second reading in the house of commons today, would prohibit general strikes, forbid arbitrary collection of dues from union members and otherwise restrict activities of labor organizations. The government planned to introduce an amendment under which lockouts by combination of employers also would be prohibited.

If the bill passes, the first act of the next labor government will be to repeal it, labor leaders said.

Yesterday's May Day demonstration at Hyde Park was impressive. One hundred thousand men, women and children, concentrated there after parades through various parts of the city, waved red flags while speeches in three languages were delivered in competition with the Footguards' band giving its usual Sunday concert in a bandstand nearby.

The trades union bill was attacked in English, Esperanto and Chinese.

Paris, May 2.—May Day was celebrated by immense crowds but without violence in most European cities, reports from United Press correspondents showed today.

It was the first May Day without violence in Paris since the war. Nevertheless, a great crowd gathered at "Red Hill" in Saint Gervais, a suburb, for the demonstration of the communist faction of the general federation of labor and the red international syndicate committee. An immense flag, inscribed with "Death to Bourgeois Intellectuals," flown.

A new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, sentenced to die for a payroll holdup murder in South Braintree, Mass., was demanded at a Berlin demonstration. One hundred thousand attended.

Half a million civilians paraded past the tomb of Lenin in Moscow. Fifty silver trumpets in "Red Square," which was festooned with red banners, opened the celebration. The full diplomatic corps was present.

The day was quiet in Vienna. Demonstrations were forbidden in Jugo-Slavia, Roumania, Hungary and Poland. The only violence was reported in Warsaw where 12 persons were injured and 100 arrested in clashes between police and communists.

The government forbade proposed demonstrations in Jerusalem, fearing clashes between socialists, communists and other workers.

Tokio, May 2.—Twenty thousand workers, including 2,000 women, paraded in a quiet May Day celebration.

APRIL WEATHER NOT FAVORABLE FOR FARMING

Washington, May 2.—(UP)—April weather conditions were unfavorable to an early farming season, the agriculture department said today.

Inundation of cotton lands will have effect on cotton acreage, while rain and frosts in the west caused delay in spring work and widespread damage to fruit and grain, the department stated.

Southern truck crops and fruits are progressing satisfactorily although frost has damaged some fruit blossoms.

SLAYING OF CLIFFORD M. HICKS NOW INVESTIGATED

ASSOCIATED WITH FORMER GOVERNOR OF MISSOURI IN LAW PRACTICE

BODY, BEARING SIX BULLET WOUNDS, FOUND IN BUSHES

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—(UP)—The slaying of Clifford M. Hicks, 29, associated with former Governor Elliot W. Major in the practice of law here, was under investigation today by police.

His body, bearing six bullet wounds, was found in a clump of bushes in St. Louis county yesterday by an equestrian. Apparently Hicks had been murdered only a short time before the body was discovered.

Authorities worked on the theory that Hicks was shot by bandits who held him up on the afternoon of April 20, and robbed him of $5,000. It is believed he recognized the robbers and they feared identification.

Glenn Hicks, a brother of the slain man, said the young attorney had been warned several times since the holdup to leave the city, but had ignored the anonymous threats.

Hicks apparently was kidnapped, carried to the country road where his body was found and there shot to death. Position of the wounds indicated that he was shot first while his hands were in the air and more bullets pumped into the body as it lay on the ground.

Hicks was last seen Saturday night. His widow, prostrate with grief, could give no information helpful to police.

DESPONDENT OVER LONESOME WAY OF LIVING

Jackson, Minn., May 2.—(UP)—Dependence over a lonesome existence as a result of the death of the wife and mother is believed to have been the reason for the suicidal actions of Claus Walters, 72, and his son. They were found hanging from the rafters of a barn on their farm near here.

Mrs. Walters died several years ago and the husband and only son were known to have brooded since. Authorities announced they had been dead several days before found by neighbors.

Two thousand police guarded the city.

Buenos Aires, May 2.—Resolutions expressing sympathy with Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were passed at May Day celebrations here. Police had taken extra precautions to prevent violence.

Mexico City, May 2.—Appeals for a new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti—one of them made by speakers at a communist demonstration in front of the United States consulate—and attacks on the Catholic church marked May Day celebrations here.

Oslo, Norway, May 2.—The United States legation here today had in its possession a formal resolution of the Norwegian trades unions threatening a boycott on American goods if Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti are executed.

The union men would refuse to transport or load any merchandise of American manufacture, under terms of the resolution, adopted at a May Day celebration.

CLAIM EFFORTS OF BANDS OF RESCUE WORKERS

WATER TRICKLING THROUGH ARKANSAS RIVER LEEVES FOR DAYS

LEEVEES OF FOUR RIVERS HAVE GIVEN WAY IN STATE OF ARKANSAS

By GERALD P. OVERTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Memphis, Tenn., May 2.—New floods in southeastern Arkansas and northeastern Louisiana today claimed the concentrated efforts of rescue workers.

Water has been trickling through Arkansas river levees for two days and large sections are inundated. Levees of the Mississippi, Red, Ouachita and Black rivers have given way in Arkansas and Louisiana, flooding thousands of acres.

Some of the territory has been evacuated, but thousands are marooned by the flood waters and must be removed to safety by boat. Other land, toward which the river is flowing rapidly, must be cleared of inhabitants promptly if their lives are to be saved.

Five Louisiana parishes with a total area of more than 3,000 square miles are endangered by water pouring through four breaks in the main levee of the river below Vidalia, La., opposite Natchez, Miss.

Practically the whole of Concordia Parish has already been covered with water, which is now reaching out over adjoining parishes.

Although the breaks below Vidalia have somewhat relieved pressure on the protecting dykes at other points, army engineers momentarily feared new and disastrous breaks.

A valiant fight was made to save the levee below Vidalia but the flood brushed aside the rows of sandbags with which the levee was topped and swept on into Concordia Parish.

Warnings to evacuate their homes immediately were sent out to all inhabitants of the territory threatened by the Vidalia breaks.

Red Cross workers and national guardsmen manned a large fleet of boats to remove inhabitants from sections where the rise of the water came so rapidly that retreat was cut off.

The entire Louisiana national guard is mobilized for rescue work and for days the Red Cross flood relief organization has been concentrating boats in the river below Natchez.

With rescue work being pushed ahead of the actual crest of the flood the relief organization is confident there will be no serious loss of life such as that which occurred when the high waters ravaged Mississippi and Arkansas.

Inhabitants of the Louisiana backlands which may have been inundated, have been given ample warning and the number of boats on hand for rescue work is the largest ever gathered under Red Cross direction.

Flood waters of the Arkansas river, liberated by a break last week in the levee at South Bend, Ark., continued their sweep through southeastern Arkansas rendering many more homeless in that territory.

Word reached rescue headquarters of another break in the levee of the Yazoo river north of Yazoo City, Miss., already partially inundated. The new torrents drove 5,000 or more persons from their homes in the territory near Yazoo City, to the American Red Cross refugee camps.

On the river between Baton Rouge and New Orleans the army of levee workers is continuing its efforts to strengthen the dikes with sandbags and mattresses.

Natchez, Miss., and Baton Rouge, La., will become the concentration points for Louisiana refugees. Vicksburg, Miss., is already jammed with 10,000 refugees from Arkansas and Mississippi and cannot accommodate another influx of homeless.

The death toll in the flood area since the Mississippi disaster began is believed to have materially increased by the new floods but cannot be estimated accurately. Compilations by the United Press place the number of dead at approximately 350. It is estimated 10,500 square miles of territory is inundated. The

Protests Against "Jazz"

A well-known London musical conductor has recently issued a strong protest against the now almost universal use of the epithet "jazz" to describe "what is really syncopated music." The two, he maintains, are entirely different. Jazz music is essentially erratic; it gets the wierdest possible effects by breaking all the rules. As far as he can elicit, the word came from a little town in the southern states of America, where the "toughs" used to shout "Chas! Chas!" for a negro minstrel, Charles by name, "Chas." became "Jazz," and the name stuck to the "music," which took New York by storm at the time of the armistice. But when people cooled down "jazz" gently expired. "Is it not, then, grotesque," he writes, "that a self-respecting syncopated orchestra should inherit this wretched epithet? A syncopated band may behave in an eccentric fashion; it does at least pay attention to the rules of music in its execution and its playing."

How Gilbert Stuart

Saved the Situation

Gilbert Stuart almost had his head turned by his success in England, and on his return to America when Hull called to have his portrait painted the artist began telling him stories of his experiences with Lord So-and-So, the marquis of This and the Baroness That, stories meant to show Hull how elegant was the society to which he had been accustomed.

Unfortunately in the midst of this ostentatious chatter, Mrs. Stuart, not knowing there was a sitter, came in from the kitchen with an apron on and her head bound round with a kerchief. "Do you want that leg of mutton boiled or roasted?" she loudly inquired.

Stuart was nonplussed—but only for a second. "Ask your mistress," he commanded sharply.—Boston Transcript.

Types of Zebras

Zebra is the name in general of all the African striped species of the horse family (equidae) of which four species are usually recognized, viz., the true or mountain zebra (Equus zebra), Burchell's zebra (Equus burchelli), Grevy's zebra (Equus grevyi) and the quagga (Equus quagga). The last-named was only partly striped and is extinct. It was an inhabitant of South Africa, and especially of mountainous districts, where it roved in small bands. It was the smallest of the group, standing a trifle over four feet high at the withers, and had relatively long ears, a comparatively short mane and a scantily haired tail. Its ground color was white (brownish on the face) and the stripes were black. The zebra now most often seen in South Africa and in menageries is Burchell's which Boers call "quagga."

Drinking Sunlight

Although ultra-violet rays provide us with a satisfactory equivalent to sunshine in winter time, and "bottled sunlight" is to be obtained through the administration of cod-liver oil, science has by no means exhausted its discoveries.

It is hoped that it will soon be possible to obtain regular doses of summer sunlight from a glass of milk. By giving irradiated cattle cake to milch cows, their milk will be made rich in the vitamin conveyed by sunlight.

Milk, to most people, is more palatable than cod-liver oil, and is also cheaper. There is, too, a pleasant

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anderson announced engagement of daughter to Ingolf Dillan

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anderson of Hutchinson, Minn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Adell Carolyn, to Ingolf Dillan of Brainerd and Minneapolis. The wedding is to take place late in the summer. Miss Anderson was a student at the University of Minnesota and is the private secretary to O. B. McClintock, president of the O. B. McClintock Company of Minneapolis, whose summer estate is on O'Brien and Goodrich lakes north of Brainerd.

Mr. Dillan graduated from the Brainerd high school in 1914, from the University of Minnesota in 1921 and from the Minnesota College of Law in 1926. He was employed in the Citizen's State bank and the First National bank during his university days. He was author of "Brainerd's Half Century" '23, and taught in the Brainerd high school for a year, Central high school Minneapolis 3 1/2 years and the University of Minnesota, 1 year. He was a lieutenant in the U. S. Marines during the late war and is a member of Sigma Delta Kappa law fraternity. Mr. Dillan and his fiancée motored from Minneapolis to spend the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Dillan.

Protests Against "Jazz"

A well-known London musical conductor has recently issued a strong protest against the now almost universal use of the epithet "jazz" to describe "what is really syncopated music." The two, he maintains, are entirely different. Jazz music is essentially erratic; it gets the widest possible effects by breaking all the rules. As far as he can elicit, the word came from a little town in the southern states of America, where the "toughs" used to shout "Chas! Chas!" for a negro minstrel, Charles by name, "Chas," became "Jazz," and the name stuck to the "music," which took New York by storm at the time of the armistice. But when people cooled down "jazz" gently expired. "Is it not, then, grotesque," he writes, "that a self-respecting syncopated orchestra should inherit this wretched epithet? A syncopated band may behave in an eccentric fashion; it does at least pay attention to the rules of music in its execution and its playing."

Great Financial Concern

Saved the Situation

Gilbert Stuart almost had his head turned by his success in England, and on his return to America when Hull called to have his portrait painted the artist began telling him stories of his experiences with Lord So-and-So, the marquis of This and the Baroness That, stories meant to show Hull how elegant was the society to which he had been accustomed.

Unfortunately in the midst of this ostentatious chatter, Mrs. Stuart, not knowing there was a sitter, came in from the kitchen with an apron on and her head bound round with a kerchief. "Do you want that leg of mutton boiled or roasted?" she loudly inquired.

Stuart was nonplussed—but only for a second. "Ask your mistress," he commanded sharply.—Boston Transcript.

Types of Zebras

Zebra is the name in general of all the African striped species of the horse family (equidae) of which four species are usually recognized, viz., the true or mountain zebra (Equus zebra), Burchell's zebra (Equus burchelli), Grevy's zebra (Equus grevyi) and the quagga (Equus quagga). The last-named was only partly striped and is extinct. It was an inhabitant of South Africa, and especially of mountainous districts, where it roved in small bands. It was the smallest of the group, standing a trifle over four feet high at the withers, and had relatively long ears, a comparatively short mane and a scantily haired tail. Its ground color was white (brownish on the face) and the stripes were black. The zebra now most often seen in South Africa and in menageries is Burchell's which Boers call "quagga."

Drinking Sunlight

Although ultra-violet rays provide us with a satisfactory equivalent to sunshine in winter time, and "bottled sunlight" is to be obtained through the administration of cod-liver oil, science has by no means exhausted its discoveries.

It is hoped that it will soon be possible to obtain regular doses of summer sunlight from a glass of milk. By giving irradiated cattle cake to milk cows, their milk will be made rich in the vitamin conveyed by sunlight.

Milk, to most people, is more palatable than cod-liver oil, and is also cheaper. There is, too, a pleasant

Commercial State Bank Sells Its Assets to Citizens State Bank

EFFECTIVE ON SATURDAY

Statements Made by A. S. Peterson and A. G. Trommald

The Citizens State bank of Brainerd has purchased the assets of the Commercial State bank of Brainerd, negotiations to that effect having been completed late Saturday. The Commercial State bank safety deposit boxes have also been transferred to the Citizens State bank, where such patrons can have access during banking hours.

A. S. Peterson, president of the Commercial State bank, when interviewed by a representative of the Dispatch this morning, said:

"The Commercial State bank of Brainerd has sold its assets to the Citizens State bank, the transaction having been closed Saturday. Our institution was sound in every way and we are grateful to the people of Brainerd and the surrounding territory for the confidence they have reposed in us.

"The opportunity presented itself where we could dispose of our assets to the advantage of our customers and we accepted it. We are greatly pleased to be able to turn the business over to an institution with the large resources the Citizens State bank has and we trust our friends will continue business with that bank."

A. G. Trommald, chairman of the board of Citizens State bank, when called upon by a Dispatch representative, said:

"There is but little for me to say. We simply saw an opportunity to enlarge our business and took it. The Commercial State bank was strictly sound and enjoyed the confidence of its customers, whom we hope will continue business with us and who will receive our every consideration and effort to advance their interests.

"The public, as well as the banking interests of Brainerd, regret to lose A. S. Peterson and C. V. Hede, president and cashier respectively of the Commercial State bank, who so efficiently managed that institution."

AT SWEDISH BAPTIST CHURCH

Largest Attendance of Campaign Greeted Rev. Peterson Last Night

The largest attendance of the campaign greeted Rev. H. R. Peterson of St. Cloud as he spoke last night at the Swedish Baptist church on the theme, "Three Strikes."

He led his audience in a consideration of the attraction to the sport and showed that every church and every member should be enthusiastic in their life because Christ is the greatest attraction of the world.

He led his audience to consider further that one man in a baseball game holds the attention of everyone and he is the batter. Will he hit and bring in a run to help his team win or will he be counted out? That is the all important question in our lives. Will we win or be counted out?

Only in Jesus Christ can we hope to win. Only by accepting Him as our Savior can we expect to help others win and see our own souls saved, said the speaker.

The Apostle Paul reasoned with Felix about righteousness, temperance and judgment to come; and Felix trembled but struck out. He answered "Go thy way for this time, when I have a convenient season I will call on thee." He almost became a Christian. But almost is lost. Almost winning a game is to lose it. Almost inside the pearly gates of heaven is to be still outside.

Tonight at 7:45 p. m. Rev. Peterson will speak on "A Spade, a Cinema and Jazz." Special singing at this service.

Tuesday night Rev. Peterson will speak on "What Shall I Do with Jesus." Everyone is welcome. All services in English except Thursday night which is Swedish.

We started talking about how sensible and how wearing they were for children, and I discovered that there was a Penney store in her town too and that she bought the same trademarked goods as I did back in Vermont. It was just like meeting old friends," she concluded.

"Old Friends!" That's exactly what the J. C. Penney Company, with their trademarks, mean to you. Friends that have proved their worth by years of good and honest service; friends that can be depended upon to greet you in a strange town and that will turn your shopping tour from uncertainty into an experience of trust and satisfaction.

HEALTH RULE MUCH QUOTED

DR. OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES once wrote a health rule that has been much quoted.

It is to get an incurable disease, take care of yourself, and live forever. It was his way of emphasizing the important fact that wonders may be accomplished easily and pleasantly by "taking care of yourself."

Consider the "flu" epidemic of years past. Big, strong, husky men who had never suffered a day's illness, collapsed when attacked by the scourge and died quickly. Smaller men, who had braved in past years their modicum of illness, quietly blew their noses, wiped their tear stained faces, bore up well under the shower of aches and pains and pulled through, thinner and skinnier than ever, but still alive. The big boys, on the other hand, fell in their tracks and gave up when the first breath of the flu fanned their brows.

Life insurance companies know the value of a man who realizes he has some ailment and accordingly takes care of himself. A man with a few defects, taking care of himself and knowing his limitations, is a better risk, in a way, than one of these big, healthy devils who run through life without restraint, thinking they can be everything and do everything.

A man never realizes the intricate parts of human machinery until he is flat on his back with some disease. The great wonder of the universe is the fact that human machinery functions as well as it does, in the face of the abuse we subject the body to. We overeat and oversleep, but hardly ever overexert. We buy phonographic health rules and lie in bed listening to what we ought to do. We fan a golf course and then come home and break half a dozen dietetic rules.

We never take stock of our physical disabilities until a terrible pain assails us in some organ. We never pull a tooth until it has ached months. We never do a thing until we have to.

Treat your body as you would your new car. Would you run miles with your new sedan when a new squeak that never squeaked before assails your ears? Take a physical inventory at least once a year. Brainerd physicians and surgeons will be glad to give you the "once over". It's a whole lot better than waiting until you are down and out, when it's hardly necessary to call a doctor to corroborate your inborn conviction that you are sick.

Think more of health insurance. Let the doctor tell you how to stay well. It will be much easier all around than asking "doc" to patch you up when all the machinery is out of gear.

TEN THOUSAND LAKES WEEK

EFFORTS are being made in hundreds of communities in Minnesota to raise $50,000 for an advertising campaign which will bring a net return estimated at more than $70,000,000 in tourist business this summer.

This is Ten Thousand Lakes Week and is held under the auspices of the Ten Thousand Lakes association with the approval of Governor Theodore Christianson. The Brainerd Dispatch is heartily in favor of this campaign.

Advertisements already placed in leading magazines of the country giving publicity to the state's advantages for summer tourists and outdoor sportsmen have resulted in inquiries from all parts of the country. Hundreds of requests for information are being received at the headquarters of the association.

Nearly a million and a half visitors were in Minnesota during the summer months of 1926 when the first campaign, representing an expenditure of $52,000 for advertising, was conducted.

Minnesota summer resorts and tourist camps are now "dressing up" in preparation for an expected unprecedented tourist travel this summer.

Quotas have been set for cities and towns in the state and reports at state headquarters in St. Paul indicate that the amount asked will be oversubscribed.

HEN AND EGG WEEK

THIS is national "hen and egg week." Up here in Minnesota where hens and eggs are plentiful, it hardly requires national propaganda to create a desire to eat chicken or eggs. Our chicken "shacks" in the lake region do an enormous business in the tourist season. Toothsome chicken dinners at the many resorts stir any man's appetite. Minnesota believes in the hen and its progeny, egg or chicken. The hen is a mortgage raiser.

The poultry colony at Barnum is known to all the world. Farmers in Crow Wing county with poultry side lines make money. In many cases it's the wife who handles the poultry.

"Hen and Egg Week" in Crow Wing county means 52 weeks of this all the year around.

SCHOOL FOR RURAL EDITORS

MINNESOTA rural editors will gather at the University Farm school this week for the annual editors' short course arranged by the extension division of the University of Minnesota. It is the eleventh annual session.

The program will start Thursday and end on Saturday. Among the speakers will be Carl Eastwood of the Le Sueur News-Herald; L. D. Coffman, president of the University; W. C. Coffey, dean of the department of agriculture of the University; J. V. Weber, editor of the Murray County Herald; Slayton, and G. O. Leonard, advertising man of Detroit.

A CURRENT issue of the Stillwater Mirror, the publication of the prison, has a stirring story by an inmate, on how to run a newspaper. He prefers red hot editorials. He may be able to write that kind, safe within the gray walls, but the average editor of today gets tired of a steady output of that kind. In the old days physical violence was often resorted to in order to back up editorial opinions. Ridicule was common. Bombastic language flourished. Fine writing grew with the abundance of jungle vegetation. The man with the biggest flow of language often smothered his opponent with verbal foliage.

CANADA has spent a half million dollars for the purchase of an official residence in Washington for the lately named Canadian minister to the United States.

THE average farmer would rather do a week's hard farm work than sit down and write a half dozen letters.

IN the old days they had inflammation of the stomach and nobody ever had appendicitis.

A New Safety Record

During the year 1926 drivers of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) motor vehicles crossed approximately 49,120,000 railroad crossings without a single fatality.

This impressive record was accomplished by a simple method, characteristic of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The drivers of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) vehicles willingly signed pledges that they would stop at all railroad crossings. On the rear end of each of the more than 11,000 vehicles operated by the Company is a little placard stating that the vehicle will stop at crossings.

These signs are the word of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). The drivers of the Company's vehicles are a part of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and they realize that it is up to them to keep that word.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) does what it says it will do. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) says it will stop at railroad crossings. In 1926 it stopped 49,120,000 times.

The result, however spectacular, was to be expected—not a single fatality.

This achievement illustrates one of the fundamental principles which has governed the growth of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and has given it an unique place in the life of the people of the Middle West.

Every man or woman who becomes a part of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in whatever capacity, appreciates the things for which the Company stands—strict integrity and human sympathy in performing a work of service for 30,000,000 people in the Middle West.

Every man or woman who becomes identified with the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) assumes a personal responsibility in preserving a reputation which long years of faithful service have earned for this organization.

The 29,000 employees of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) realize that a respect for the rights of others and a desire to cooperate in protecting life and property are behind all safety rules. With characteristic loyalty, as one man, they obeyed safety rules in 1926.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has increased in size but it has not altered in character. Its complicated and comprehensive organization is governed by plain and simple principles—honesty—fair dealing—a respect for the rights of others.

Safety rules are humanitarian rules, and it is natural, considering the purpose and principles of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), that it should play a conspicuously successful part in promoting safety throughout the ten states which it serves.

PITTSBURGH PIRATES WIN 9TH INNING VICTORY, 7 TO 6, OVER CHICAGO CUBS

(By United Press)
Yesterday's hero—George Herman "Babe" Ruth, whose two home runs—his fifth and sixth of the season—helped the Yankees defeat the Philadelphia Athletics before 60,000 persons in New York.

The Chicago White Sox scored a run in the last of the ninth and defeated the St. Louis Browns, 7 to 6. Falk and Clancy's singles won the game in the final inning. It was their sixth straight win.

After the Chicago Cubs had scored five runs in a seventh inning rally, Pitcher Charley Root of the Cubs walked three men in succession, Paul Waner singled, and the Pittsburgh Pirates scored a ninth inning victory, 7 to 6.

Another ninth inning rally gave the Brooklyn Robins a 4 to 3 win over the New York Giants. Pinch Hitter Jacobson poked a drive to center field which brought Max Carey in with the winning run.

Frankie Frisch, St. Louis Cardinals, hit his third home run in two days when his club trounced the Cincinnati Reds, 12 to 4.
Earl Whitehill pitched stellar baseball, and shut out the Cleveland Indians, 7 to 0. His mates played perfect ball behind him and scored five runs in the seventh inning.

Lisenbee, in his first pitching start for the Washington Senators, goose-egged the Boston Red Sox. Washington massed hits against Russell to win, 6 to 0.

St. Paul—Bruno Betzel's Indianapolis team took a 10th inning victory from the league-leading Saints here yesterday, 3 to 2.

Milwaukee, Wis. — The Brewers opened their home season against the Columbus Senators with an 8 to 3 victory. The Brewers are half a game behind the league-leaders.

Minneapolis—By bunching hits, Louisville's slugging Colonels took a 10 to 8 win over the Minneapolis Millers. The Colonels connected safely 13 times.

Kansas City, Mo.—It took the Toledo Mudhens 10 innings to defeat the Blues. The Hens used four pitchers to win.

Tilden II in European Court Appearance

Shot From 'Nowhere' Killed Lad of 19 at Bradley Beach, N. J.

Bradley Beach, N. J., May 2.—(UP)—Police today were without clues to the shot "from nowhere" that killed Arnold Bennett, 19, Belmar, while he was riding here yesterday.

Bennett and a group of other young people were returning from a dance in the American Legion building at Belmar. Although they heard a shot, they did not know their companion had been injured until Miss Margaret Martin, 19, Whitesville, felt blood on her arm, which was around Bennett's neck.

Police questioned all members of the party but could obtain no information. The young people said two cars passed them as the shot was heard and police believed the shot was fired by a careless reveller.

PHILLY-PIRATES WAR, TIGERS IN THE AMERICAN

EARLY SEASON BREAKS WILL SHORTLY LOSE THEIR EFFECT

CLUBS WILL BE SHAKEN DOWN INTO PROPER POSITIONS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, May 2.—Both major leagues look dizzy in spots, with the Philadelphia Phillies battling the Pittsburgh Pirates for a place in the first division of the National league and the Detroit Tigers battling their way up in the American.

But it won't be long now until the early season breaks lose their effect and the clubs are shaken down into their proper positions.

The New York Giants, although not a cinch for the pennant are not out of place at the lead of the National league. But considering the breaks in the schedule, the Giants should have a more substantial margin over the St. Louis Cardinals than they have. The champions have been meeting tougher opposition among the powerful western clubs while the Giants have had relatively easy opponents, notably the Phillies and Braves.

John McGraw may point out that the Phillies are a much stronger club than the experts gave them credit for being and that the Boston Braves are always a fighting club. But he, least of anyone, would be responsible for the opinion that either the Phillies or the Braves will be any place when July 4 rolls around.

Everyone wants to give Stuff McInnis all the encouragement and credit possible, but Stuff knows the Phillies aren't what the old time Phillies used to be.

The Cincinnati Reds, and the Brooklyn Robins are out of position in the cellar.

The Pittsburgh Pirates are bound to go higher on their swing through the east, where the opposition will not be as spirited as that in the west.

The New York Yankees looked like a cinch for the American league pennant a week ago, but the Philadelphia Athletics seem to be snapping into form and may yet be in the fight. They lost a tough one to the Yanks yesterday.

The position of the Washington Senators is easy to explain. The club was bumped by a couple of terrible breaks before the season opened and has done well to do what it has to with its best playing strength not yet available.

DRAKE RELAYS SUPERIOR TO PENNSYLVANIA

11 INSTANCES GIVE EVIDENCE OF BETTER ATHLETIC WORK

THE EAST ONLY HAD THE EDGE IN FIVE EVENTS, SURVEY REVEALS

Chicago, May 2.—(UP)—Performances at the Drake Relays were superior in 11 instances to those at the Pennsylvania games, while the east had the edge in five events, a survey of the games reveals. However, it was conceded that good marks were impossible at the Pennsylvania games, due to a heavy downpour of rain which made the track and field a morass of mud.

The athletes at Drake were superior in the 100-yard dash, the high hurdles, the two-mile, the broad jump, the shot put, the javelin and discus throws, the hop-step-and-jump, the mile, two-miles and four mile relays.

The athletes at Penn had the edge in the high jump, the pole vault, the hammer throw, the quarter and half mile relays. Of the eastern marks, one was set by Anton Berg, of a western team, the University of Chicago.

Spanish Fighter Kills Tame Hogs Near Tampa

A "true" story of Paulino Uzcudun's wild bear expedition has come to light at Tampa. The Spanish heavyweight told New York reporters recently he killed three wild hogs in Cuba in a fierce battle just before coming to this country. A Havana newspaper then declared there were no wild hogs in Cuba.

The story was true except for two points. The hogs were not wild, they were common Florida "razor-back" hogs, and the "battle" was fought on the outskirts of Tampa instead of in Cuba.

Paulino was a member of a hunting party during his visit to Tampa. He came through with 182 double plays, but the Beaumont club of the Texas league beat that record by 18 during the 1926 campaign, executing 208 duplex killings. The infield that took part in most of these double plays was composed of Galloway, a veteran minor league manager, on first; Cowboy Tom Connolly, who was with Washington some 11 years ago, at second; Bernie Deversos, who had been purchased by Detroit, at short, and Paddy Regan, a youngster, at third.

Regan started but few double plays, but Deversos and Connolly worked together with perfection. And the queer part of it all was that none of the quartet ever had worked with the others prior to last year.

Chicago, May 2.—(UP)—Performances at the Drake Relays were superior in 11 instances to those at the Pennsylvania games, while the east had the edge in five events, a survey of the games reveals. However, it was conceded that good marks were impossible at the Pennsylvania games, due to a heavy downpour of rain which made the track and field a morass of mud.

The athletes at Drake were superior in the 100-yard dash, the high hurdles, the two-mile, the broad jump, the shot put, the javelin and discus throws, the hop-step-and-jump, the mile, two-miles and four mile relays.

The athletes at Penn had the edge in the high jump, the pole vault, the hammer throw, the quarter and half mile relays. Of the eastern marks, one was set by Anton Berg, of a western team, the University of Chicago.

Spanish Fighter Kills

Tame Hogs Near Tampa

A "true" story of Paulino Uzcudun's wild bear expedition has come to light at Tampa. The Spanish heavyweight told New York reporters recently he killed three wild bears in Cuba in a fierce battle just before coming to this country. A Havana newspaper then declared there were no wild bears in Cuba.

The story was true except for two points. The bears were not wild, they were common Florida "razor-back" hogs, and the "battle" was fought on the outskirts of Tampa instead of in Cuba.

Paulino was a member of a hunting party during his visit to Tampa. He came upon the hogs in the woods and instructed his companions to flee for their lives. He shot one pig, clubbed another and killed the third with a blow from his fist.

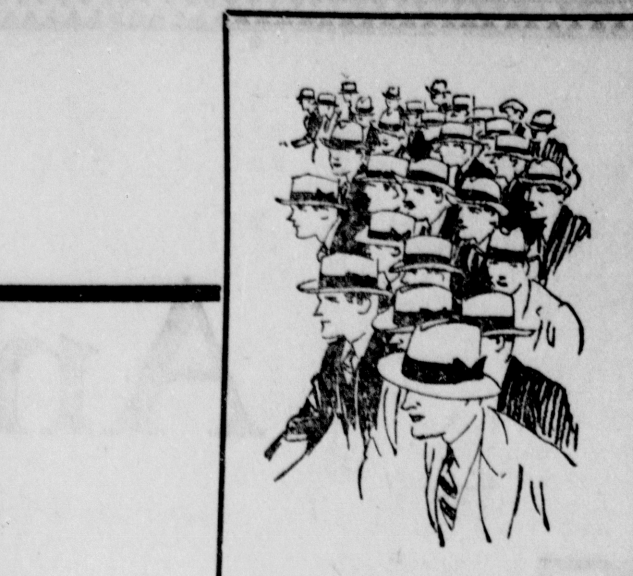

His companions paid the irate farmer for the three hogs and a barbecue was served to Paulino's friends in the Tampa Spanish colony.

Beaumont Breaks Record

in Making Double Plays

The Washington American leaguers set a world record in 1923 when they came through with 182 double plays, but the Beaumont club of the Texas league beat that record by 18 during the 1926 campaign, executing 208 duplex killings. The infield that took part in most of these double plays was composed of Galloway, a veteran minor league manager, on first; Cowboy Tom Connolly, who was with Washington some 11 years ago, at second; Bernie Deiveros, who had been purchased by Detroit, at short, and Paddy Regan, a youngster, at third.

Regan started but few double plays, but Deiveros and Connolly worked together with perfection. And the queer part of it all was that none of the quartet ever had worked with the others prior to last year.

CAR COLLISION ON RIVER BRIDGE

Al Lyons of West Brainerd Has Knee
Cap Broken—Girl Suffers
From Shock

BOTH CARS WRECKED

Head on Smash Took Place at West
End of Mississippi
Bridge in Brainerd

Two persons were taken to St. Joseph's hospital as the result of an automobile collision at the west end of the Mississippi river bridge in West Brainerd shortly after midnight Saturday.

Al Lyons of West Brainerd, sustained a broken knee cap and minor injuries. Miss Nettie Edquist, living near Brainerd, was found to be suffering from shock only and was uninjured. She was discharged from the hospital Sunday.

The accident occurred early Sunday morning just as a number of cars were returning from a dance at Birchdale Resort. Emil Kunde, 723 South 5th street, in a new Chevrolet coach with three other persons, is alleged to have attempted to pass a car ahead just as they came on to the bridge after coming in to town on highway No. 19. Miles Guin with two companions in a Dodge car was travelling in the opposite direction and the impact occurred at the very end of the bridge. The collision threw the Dodge to the south side of the bridge railing while the other car was forced to the other side, blocking traffic until they could be removed, according to eye-witnesses and information obtained at the police department.

None of the occupants of Kunde's car was injured. Al Lyons, driving with Guin, was taken to the hospital, and the driver and George Lytle escaped uninjured although the force of the collision threw them a dozen feet or more from their car. Wesley Dahl and another young lady in Kunde's machine escaped injury.

The car driven by Guin was wrecked almost beyond repair, a wheel being torn off and an axle driven back under the car. The windshield glasses of both cars were shattered by the collision. Kunde's car, a new machine purchased only a short time ago, was also badly damaged. The bumper, one headlight and one front fender were crumpled and an axle forced out of place. Passing motorists took the injured man and the hysterical girl to the hospital and helped remove the wreckage from the bridge so that traffic could be resumed.

CANVASS OF SALVATION ARMY

Annual Appeal Made Throughout
City the Volunteer
Workers

CONTINUES THREE DAYS

District Captained by William V.
Turcotte First Section
to Report

Workers throughout the city began the annual canvass for funds, with which the Salvation Army will carry on the program of relief and self-help during the coming year, this morning. The campaign will continue Tuesday and Wednesday.

The district captained by William V. Turcotte was the first section in which the canvass was reported as practically completed this afternoon. Mr. Turcotte reported fine response on the part of friends of the Army in his district.

Basil T. Heath, general campaign chairman, predicted that the campaign would be put over in a typical Brainerd fashion. "Energetic workers are making a canvass throughout the county," he said. "The budget requirements are not large considering the important work the Salvation Army is doing among the poor, needy and distressed in the community. Past experience has shown that Brainerd is heartily back of the local workers of the blue bonnet and uniform. The donations made this week should be made cheerfully and should be as liberal as possible. 'If nobody cared' there would be many an aching heart, many distressed families, and an increase in suffering. It is sufficient to say that nobody would care to a sufficient degree to adequately take care of the situation if the Salvation Army was not eternally on the job."

BOY SCOUT SUMMER CAMP

Held by Crow Wing Area Council
at Clearwater
Lake

JUNE 19 TO JULY 31

400 Scouts in Local Area Are Eligible to Attend
Camp

The fifth season of the Boy Scout summer camp of the Crow Wing Area Council at Clearwater Lake will open Sunday afternoon, June 19 at 5 o'clock and close Sunday afternoon, July 31, at 3 o'clock. Four hundred scouts in the local area are eligible to attend the summer camp but only 150 out of this number can be accepted because of the limited time and accommodations.

Camp registration booklets were sent out Saturday including application blanks for Camp Clearwater. Registration fees are 50c instead of $1.00 as in former years. There will be three periods, each lasting two weeks. Campers will be expected to remain the whole period.

Camp Clearwater is operated by the council, who believe that the training there received should be a part of every boy's Scout experience. A nominal fee is charged of 50c per day or seven dollars for a two week period. The camp is situated on the east shore of Clearwater Lake and is on an 86 acre plot located in a hardwood territory, with a mixture of all the pines common to the north country.

The 1927 season will be under the personal leadership of B. P. Newton, Scout Executive of Crow Wing Council Area. Mr. Newton has spent the past 11 summers supervising scout camps; Fargo, Winona, Madison, and Culver Woodcraft Camp at Culver, Ind. The training in boy psychology during these summers, where over a thousand boys were under observation, prepared Mr. Newton for this position.

The assistant camp director will be Don Dukelow of Minneapolis who is completing his medical work at the University. The latter fact will assure every boy excellent medical care. Mr. Dukelow is an Eagle Scout, a Red Cross Life Saver and is an exceptional athlete.

The three junior counselors at camp will be Winifred Barnes of Brainerd, Gordon Cross of Staples and Wilfred Sanford of Aitkin.

The equipment of the camp this year will be of a nature that will not make the boys feel concerned as to their own welfare, regardless of the weather. Work on roofing the six sleeping cabins will begin tomorrow making them water proof, the mess hall will be painted and repaired so that it will be free from flies making it thoroughly sanitary. Mrs. N. G. Nelson an experienced food administrator will direct and supervise meals. The camp menu is prepared by Dr. Wilder of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester assuring the boys a properly balanced meal with an ample supply of fresh eggs, butter, milk, and vegetables.

Walter Murphy, chairman of the Camping committee in an appeal to Scout parents for "Your boy and mine" tells of a lone Indian, straight and tall, who was seen watching the sunrise. Silently he stood, not knowing he was observed. Finally turning, he was asked regarding the thoughts that came as he watched the glorious sunrise and he replied, "I opened my heart to the Great Spirit."

"In camp are the things that open the hearts of your boy and mine. Let's send them there."

ROTARY CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Directors Select Wm. A. Spencer as President of Organization

G. W. CHADBOURNE, SECRETARY

Brainerd Club to be Largely Represented at St. Cloud District Convention

The board of directors of the Brainerd Rotary club, being William A. Spencer, Dr. George Ribbel, Walter F. Wieland, E. F. Gates, and Dr. R. A. Beise, elected these officers: President—William A. Spencer. Vice-President—Dr. George Ribbel.

Secretary—G. W. Chadbourne. Treasurer—Dr. Ralph Hallquist.

The enlarged board of directors now includes the five directors elected last Tuesday, and three ex-officio members, Secretary G. W. Chadbourne, Treasurer Dr. Hallquist and Past-President William V. Turcotte. The sergeant at arms is J. P. Anderson, and the song leader is Frank Johnson.

Brainerd club will be largely represented at the district convention May 3 and 4 in St. Cloud. Efforts will be made to have the club membership to attend luncheons and round-table conferences on the first day that full advantage will be taken of these meetings, which are high in educational and inspirational value. President Spencer will see that every member attending such conferences will be supplied with lead pencil and paper to make copious notes and thus be able to bring back a full report to be made at subsequent meetings of the local club. As stated by A. G. Trommald, one can learn more at a district convention about Rotary than in six months' attendance at the average local club.

There will be cars in abundance and committees have been named to assemble the Rotarians. A newly appointed committee is sounding sentiment as to the attendance of the ladies at the convention.

On the day of the parade the Brainerd club will be led by the Brainerd Ladies band. Distinctive hats will be worn by local Rotarians.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF A NEW GASOLINE

Energiee Detonox Being Advertised
Today by Pure Oil
Company

IDENTIFIED BY RED COLOR

Crow Wing Oil Co. is the Local Distributor for New Product

Announcement of the marketing of a new product, Energiee Detonox gasoline, by the Pure Oil company is made today in full-page advertisements in leading newspapers.

The new product, which is colored red for easy identification, is produced at the company's own refineries, and is being widely marketed in states east of the Rockies. The Crow Wing Oil Co., distributor for Brainerd and vicinity, has received a large shipment of the new fuel and it is on sale at local Energiee stations today.

An outstanding characteristic of the new motor gasoline is its combination of non-detonating qualities and increased mileage with the other desirable features of a motor fuel. With the perfection of a unique Pure oil refining process, which makes this new fuel possible, Pure Oil engineers believe that motors of today will have longer life and that the new type gasoline will pave the way for more efficient motors in the future.

The new Pure oil product is more than "just another anti-knock gas." It generates smooth power without knocks or "pings." It starts instantly—gives lightning acceleration—it is filled with giant power coupled with an unusually high record for miles per gallon.

The new gasoline burns cleanly because it vaporizes completely into the correct dry mixture for maximum power, thus hindering harmful carbon deposits in the motor.

Before offering the new product to the public it was put to the most searching tests, both in laboratory and under gruelling road conditions. The new motor fuel is a safe product. It is safe because it is a pure petroleum product and will not corrode a motor. Its non-detonating characteristic is due to a special Pure Oil company refining process only.

CANVASS OF SALVATION ARMY

Annual Appeal Made Throughout
City the Volunteer
Workers

CONTINUES THREE DAYS

District Captained by William V.
Turcotte First Section
to Report

Workers throughout the city began the annual canvass for funds, with which the Salvation Army will carry on the program of relief and welfare during the coming year, this morning. The campaign will continue Tuesday and Wednesday.

The district captained by William V. Turcotte was the first section in which the canvass was reported as practically completed this afternoon. Mr. Turcotte reported fine response on the part of friends of the Army in his district.

Basil T. Heath, general campaign chairman, predicted that the campaign would be put over in a typical Brainerd fashion. "Energetic workers are making a canvass throughout the county," he said. "The budget requirements are not large considering the important work the Salvation Army is doing among the poor, needy and distressed in the community. Past experience has shown that Brainerd is heartily back of the local workers of the blue bonnet and uniform. The donations made this week should be made cheerfully and should be as liberal as possible. If nobody cared there would be many an aching heart, many distressed families, and an increase in suffering. It is sufficient to say that nobody would care to a sufficient degree to adequately take care of the situation if the Salvation Army was not eternally on the job."

BOY SCOUT SUMMER CAMP

Held by Crow Wing Area Council
at Clearwater
Lake

JUNE 19 TO JULY 31

400 Scouts in Local Area Are Eligible to Attend
Camp

The fifth season of the Boy Scout summer camp of the Crow Wing Area Council at Clearwater Lake will open Sunday afternoon, June 19 at 5 o'clock and close Sunday afternoon, July 31, at 3 o'clock. Four hundred scouts in the local area are eligible to attend the summer camp but only 150 out of this number can be accepted because of the limited time and accommodations.

Camp registration booklets were sent out Saturday including application blanks for Camp Clearwater. Registration fees are 50c instead of $1.00 as in former years. There will be three periods, each lasting two weeks. Campers will be expected to remain the whole period.

Camp Clearwater is operated by the council, who believe that the training there received should be a part of every boy's Scout experience. A nominal fee is charged of 50c per day or seven dollars for a two week period. The camp is situated on the east shore of Clearwater Lake and is on an 86 acre plot located in a hardwood territory, with a mixture of all the pines common to the north country.

The 1927 season will be under the personal leadership of B. P. Newton, Scout Executive of Crow Wing Council Area. Mr. Newton has spent the past 11 summers supervising scout camps: Fargo, Winona, Madison, and Culver Woodcraft Camp at Culver, Ind. The training in boy psychology during these summers, where over a thousand boys were under observation, prepared Mr. Newton for this position.

The assistant camp director will be Don Dukelow of Minneapolis who is completing his medical work at the University. The latter fact will assure every boy excellent medical care. Mr. Dukelow is an Eagle Scout, a Red Cross Life Saver and is an exceptional athlete.

The three Junior counselors at camp will be Winel Barnes of Brainerd, Gordon Cross of Staples and Wilfred Sanford of Aitkin.

The equipment of the camp this year will be of a nature that should not feel concerned as to their son's welfare, regardless of the weather. Work on roofing the six sleeping cabins will begin tomorrow making them water proof, the mess hall will be painted and repaired so that it will be free from flies making it thoroughly sanitary. Mrs. N. G. Nelson an experienced food administrator will direct and supervise meals. The camp menu is prepared by Dr. Wilder of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester assuring the boys a properly balanced meal with an ample supply of fresh eggs, butter, milk, and vegetables.

Walter Murphy, chairman of the Camping committee in an appeal to Scout parents for "Your boy and mine" tells of a lone Indian, straight and tall, who was seen watching the sunrise. Silently he stood, not knowing he was observed. Finally turning, he was asked regarding the thoughts that came as he watched the glorious sunrise and he replied, "I opened my heart to the Great Spirit."

"In camp are the things that open the hearts of your boy and mine. Let's send them there."

ROTARY CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Directors Select Wm. A. Spencer as President of Organization

G. W. CHADBOURNE, SECRETARY

Brainerd Club to be Largely Represented at St. Cloud District Convention

The board of directors of the Brainerd Rotary club, being William A. Spencer, Dr. George Ribbel, Walter F. Wieland, E. F. Gates, and Dr. R. A. Beise, elected these officers: President—William A. Spencer. Vice-President—Dr. George Ribbel.

Secretary—G. W. Chadbourne. Treasurer—Dr. Ralph Hallquist. The enlarged board of directors now includes the five directors elected last Tuesday, and three ex-officio members, Secretary G. W. Chadbourne, Treasurer Dr. Hallquist and Past-President William V. Turcotte. The sergeant-at-arms is J. P. Anderson, and the song leader is Frank Johnson.

Brainerd club will be largely represented at the district convention May 3 and 4 in St. Cloud. Efforts will be made to have the club membership to attend luncheons and round-table conferences on the first day that full advantage will be taken of these meetings, which are high in educational and inspirational value. President Spencer will see that every member attending such conferences will be supplied with lead pencil and paper to make copious notes and thus be able to bring back a full report to be made at subsequent meetings of the local club. As stated by A. G. Trommald, one can learn more at a district convention about Rotary than in six months' attendance at the average local club.

There will be cars in abundance and committees have been named to assemble the Rotarians. A newly appointed committee is sounding sentiment as to the attendance of the ladies at the convention.

On the day of the parade the Brainerd club will be led by the Brainerd Ladies band. Distinctive hats will be worn by local Rotarians.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF A NEW GASOLINE

Energiee Detonox Being Advertised
Today by Pure Oil
Company

IDENTIFIED BY RED COLOR

Crow Wing Oil Co. is the Local Distributor for New Product

Announcement of the marketing of a new product, Energiee Detonox gasoline, by the Pure Oil company is made today in full-page advertisements in leading newspapers.

The new product, which is colored red for easy identification, is produced at the company's own refineries, and is being widely marketed in states east of the Rockies. The Crow Wing Oil Co., distributor for Brainerd and vicinity, has received a large shipment of the new fuel and it is on sale at local Energiee stations today.

An outstanding characteristic of the new motor gasoline is its combination of non-detonating qualities and increased mileage with the other desirable features of a motor fuel. With the perfection of a unique Pure oil refining process, which makes this new fuel possible, Pure Oil engineers believe that motors of today will have longer life and that the new type gasoline will pave the way for more efficient motors in the future.

The new Pure oil product is more than "just another anti-knock gas." It generates smooth power without knocks or "pings." It starts instantly—gives lightning acceleration—it is filled with giant power coupled with an unusually high record for miles per gallon.

The new gasoline burns cleanly because it vaporizes completely into the correct dry mixture for maximum power, thus hindering harmful carbon deposits in the motor.

Before offering the new product to the public it was put to the most searching tests, both in laboratory and under grueling road conditions. The new motor fuel is a safe product. It is safe because it is a pure petroleum product and will not corrode a motor. Its non-detonating characteristic is due to a special Pure Oil company refining process only.

From the famous photoplay, "The Magic Garden."

THE STORY SO FAR

Amaryllis, tired of waiting for someone to love her, runs away in search of happiness. She finds a wonderful garden, and a boy, John Guido, who seems to be interested in her. Having a friend for the first time, she tells the boy her story. John Guido decides that the parents need punishment and that he will hide Amaryllis until her family learn to appreciate her. He looks for a place to hide her in.

So they looked all around to find a place to hide Amaryllis if a policeman came. It was the boy who found a hiding place under the throne in the glass room where models sat when John Forrester wanted to paint a person into a picture. There was a big chair with a curtain draped over it, and at the back there was world of room for Amaryllis to slip in and sit down and keep so quiet that there no policeman would ever think of looking for her. Then John Guido closed the front gate and locked the front door. He told Amaryllis that he did not think there was much danger of policemen coming there to look for her because they lived so far from the road, and other people owned the land between them and where men would be searching. He thought it would be perfectly safe for them to go to the garden to play.

So John Guido took Amaryllis by the hand and led her into the Magic Garden. They sat down among the striped grass, all white and yellow he decided that since he would need Marie to undress Little Hungry Heart, and to bathe her and sleep beside her, he would have to tell her anyway.

So he began to try to think what he could tell her that would not make her tell the policeman if they came hunting a little lost girl. At last he thought out what would be best to tell Marie, and he went over to tell her right away, so she would not come and be surprised. Before he left Amaryllis he hid her behind a big clump of peonies that had run wild for goodness knows how long, long enough for them to become almost bushes. They completely covered the little half-scared girl with green leaves and blooms, blooms as big as her head and sweet, so sweet she kept plunging her face with its big, eager eyes deep into them, until her nose got enough pollen on it to make it yellow as her hair.

When John Guido came back he said everything was all right, Marie was a good sort. She was mighty glad that his little cousin had come out to visit him from the city so he would not be so lonely, and she would be glad to stay all night and take care of her, and if anyone came around that had no business there she would send them right away.

Then the black-eyed boy and the blue-eyed girl laughed and laughed and laughed until their sides ached. They leaned against each other and laughed because they had such a very good joke on the people who had not cared enough about a and green and lavender striped little girl to keep her from having a heavy spot in her heart and a big lump in her throat. The black-eyed boy said he would teach them what happened when they had no love to give to the sweetest little girl in all the world.

Then John Guido commenced doing things that were real magic. Over by the garden fence where the tall hollyhocks grew he went and cut them—great single blossoms of pink or of white. He went up to the house and brought down two or three tumbler of water and a handful of broom straws. Then he went over to the grape arbor and picked some green grapes as big as his fist and his first finger. He went to the honeysuckle and gathered honeysuckle trumpets, and to the striped grass and came back with long banners of grass. He went down into the garden where the tomatoes and cabbages and vegetables grew and from the bean row he selected some bean pods that had beans in them that were nearly big enough to begin to harden.

Then, sitting in the striped grass under the snowing syringa bush, with the tumbler of water ranged on the walk out in front of them, he took the grapes, and on the long, stiff broom straws stood a nice round grape for a head. Then he stuck the straw clear through another to make the body long enough to tie the belt around. Into this he stuck some shorter straws for legs and he put a bean on the end of each straw for a little foot. The feet looked like tiny Dutch wooden shoes. Then he took a hollyhock and with his knife carefully cut away the stem and the pistil and trimmed off the calyx and then removed the grape head and the first section of the body and stuck the straw through the pink skirt he had made, a skirt that would barely let the little bean feet show beneath it. He fixed another hollyhock the same way and put back the body grape for a waist, and then he put on the head grape. Between the two body grapes he made a sash of striped grass. He made arms with little bits of broom straws stuck through honeysuckle trumpets so the little tubes made sleeves. He reached up to the syringa above him and got a blossom that was just opening. He cut the stem off, carefully cut the pistil out and with a tiny little bit of straw he set it at a jaunty angle on the head of the little flower-lady he was making. It made a lovely hat. Then he took his knife and made eyes and a nose and mouth. Such long, slender fingers the boy had and he was so very skillful with them that soon the lowliest little lady you ever saw, all dressed up in pink and white, went into one of the tumblers of water to keep her fresh.

Then Amaryllis went racing through the garden to gather every flower that she could find. (To be continued)

NEW FLOODS IN S. E. ARKANSAS, N. E. LOUISIANA

number of homeless has reached 200,000.

VICKSBURG, NATCHEZ ARE NOW IN TROUBLE

By E. W. LEWIS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Vicksburg, Miss., May 2. — The Louisiana side of the river opposite Vicksburg and Natchez is now the danger point in the assault of the flood waters against the levees which confine them, the government engineer's office here admitted today.

A vast area, including the towns of Tallulah, Delta and Bedford, with thousands of inhabitants, is in danger of being inundated.

Levees at Duckport, Cabinteele and Bedford are being topped with sandbags above the 39 foot level which the river is now approaching.

Water has washed over the levee tops at several places and extreme care in watching them and piling sandbags higher wherever the water washed over has thus far prevented disaster.

The heroic effort which saved Vicksburg's transportation system Saturday, when the base of the dyke on the waterfront opened, was believed to have been completely effective.

Mattresses and bales of cotton dropped into the hole are holding the flood from the railroad yards and steamboat landing and pumps are working to remove the water which seeps through.

While refugees in most sections near Vicksburg have been removed boats continue to work their way through the inundated sections searching for some who may have been overlooked.

Rescue workers recount scenes of horror in the flooded areas which rival instances of human suffering classic in history.

Rev. Gordon Reese, Vicksburg minister who aided in saving many victims along the Sunflower river, told the United Press of a village where the entire population of 217 persons was huddled in a single cabin on high ground awaiting rescue.

"They had been there three days," Rev. Reese said, "without food or good water. Whites and negroes were huddled together in the little shack and other refugees were in skiffs tied nearby.

"Sanitary conditions were impossible. They were all so desperate and eager to get away that our boat was almost overturned in getting them on board."

The rescue workers could make no attempt to save livestock from drowning. Cattle and horses stood half submerged in water, Rev. Reese said, and waited for the slowly rising flood to drown them.

Negroes were seen desperately holding the heads of their cattle above water. Some of the flood victims were almost crazed by their plight, refusing at first to leave their homes and possessions, then alternately weeping over their misfortune and offering prayers of thanks that their lives had been spared.

Water is slowly spreading westward at Vidalia, opposite Natchez, and will likely strengthen the levee and that town by exerting outward pressure to protect the levee against the inward thrust of the main current of the Mississippi.

The levees at Vidalia have caused river engineers grave worry.

The countryside being flooded today by the break at Bougere has mostly been evacuated during the past 10 days. Thousands of farm animals were driven out of the district and corralled here, while many families, fearful of the flood, moved to higher ground.

Delhi, La., May 2.—The city of Delhi today became a great refuge center for northeast Louisiana with thousands of cattle, mules and horses being driven along dusty country roads toward the city, located on a slight rise in the bottom lands.

Waters were encroaching southward from the South Bend break in the Arkansas river west of here and fear was felt for the main Mississippi river levee.

Memphis, Tenn., May 2. — Nine more refugee camps were established in Louisiana today by the Red Cross flood relief organization, to furnish refuge for the thousands of homeless who are retreating before the advance of the flood in that state.

It was estimated there will be 100,000 or more homeless in Louisiana before the flood has spent its destructive force.

Officials here admitted they expected new breaks in the levees south of Vicksburg, Miss., on the Louisiana side at any time. Large quantities of supplies and rescue boats are being gathered at the Louisiana refugee camp in readiness for impending disaster.

HAD BEEN EXPECTED HE WOULD

DAY

Roanoke, Va., May 2.—(UP)—The tenacious will to live which has kept Walter L. Booth existing eleven days with collapsed lungs came to his rescue again today after doctors and even close personal friends had abandoned hope.

The same physicians who, following a relapse by Booth last midnight, said "He cannot live through the day," admitted this afternoon their patient had rallied and was "about the same" as he had been for days.

Sleep, even though fitful and induced by opiates, assisted the 18-year-old farm boy's improvement. Walter no longer gasped and sobbed, though he still complained of pains in his chest induced by constant pumping of his arms to give him air.

THE STORY SO FAR

Amaryllis, tired of waiting for someone to love her, runs away in search of happiness. She finds a wonderful garden, and a boy, John Guido, who seems to be interested in her. Having a friend for the first time, she tells the boy her story. John Guido decides that the parents need punishment and that he will hide Amaryllis until her family learn to appreciate her. He looks for a place to hide her in.

So they looked all around to find a place to hide Amaryllis if a policeman came. It was the boy who found a hiding place under the throne in the glass room where models sat when John Forrester wanted to paint a person into a picture. There was a big chair with a curtain draped over it, and at the back there was a room for Amaryllis to slip in and sit down and keep so quiet that there no policeman would ever think of looking for her. Then John Guido closed the front gate and locked the front door. He told Amaryllis that he did not think there was much danger of policemen coming there to look for her because they lived so far from the road, and other people owned the land between them and where men would be searching. He thought it would be perfectly safe for them to go to the garden to play.

So John Guido took Amaryllis by the hand and led her into the Magic Garden. They sat down among the striped grass, all white and yellow he decided that since he would need Marie to undress little Henry Heart, and to bathe her and sleep beside her, he would have to tell her anyway.

So he began to try to think what he could tell her that would not make her tell the policeman if they came hunting a little lost girl. At last he thought out what would be best to tell Marie, and he went over to tell her right away, so she would not come and be surprised. Before he left Amaryllis he hid her behind a big clump of peonies that had run wild for goodness knows how long, long enough for them to become almost bushes. They completely covered the little half-scared girl with green leaves and blooms, blooms as big as her head and sweet as sweet she kept plunging her face with its big, eager eyes deep into them, until her nose got enough pollen on it to make it yellow as her hair.

When John Guido came back he said everything was all right, Marie was a good sort. She was mighty glad that his little cousin had come out to visit him from the city so he would not be so lonely, and she would be glad to stay all night and take care of her, and if anyone came around that had no business there she would send them right away.

Then the black-eyed boy and the blue-eyed girl laughed and laughed and laughed until their sides ached. They leaned against each other and laughed because they had such a very good joke on the people who had not cared enough about a and green and lavender striped grass, grass such as Amaryllis never had seen anywhere before. They sat down under the syringa bush which rose above them, all so sweet and smelly with wonderful white flowers that showered petals down like a snowfall if they pushed against it ever so lightly. John Guido took the grass blades and broke them off into different lengths and laid them between his thumbs and stretched them tight. Then he lifted his thumbs to his mouth and played the queerest tunes on the grass blades. Amaryllis laughed until the tears ran down her cheeks. She held out her hands and the boy put little blades between her thumbs and pulled them up tight and held them and showed Amaryllis how to set her red lips and blow. When she made a little squeak she thought it was as fine as the music that the boy had made. So she kept hunting for other blades and making squeaky sounds on them between her thumbs and laughing, while every few minutes she came back to the boy and held up her little red rosebud of a mouth and said very plaintively: "Please, boy, I'm hungry again."

John Guido took her in his arms and gave her the very sweetest kiss that he could think up, exactly the way he thought the nicest mother in all the world would put a kiss on the lips of a little baby thing that was all yellow curls and hungry eyes and deep dimples and lacy ruffles. That tells you all you need to know about the kind of a boy John Guido Forrester had been born to be and had been trained into.

When the striped grass whistles lost their novelty John Guido took a knife from his pocket, opened the big blade and taught Amaryllis a wonderful game. So expertly he flipped the knife from each finger, and then from his knees, and from the back of his hand, and from his closed fist with the thumb extended, and off his elbow and over his shoulder and from the top of his head—so expertly he flipped it that he never cut himself or missed one throw. He taught her the exciting game with a knife called "Mumblety-peg." Amaryllis was not a bit afraid of the blade. Like the game little sport she was, she went at it and she tried so very hard that she did better than any little girl five years old would have done unless she did try very hard indeed. And when she lost the game, for she was not very expert, she had to pull a little wooden peg from the ground with her teeth to punish her for making mistakes.

Always, as they played, the boy with the big black eyes kept watch toward the front part of the house; he kept watch down the walk that they had come; he kept watch over toward the kitchen side of the house, because he said Marie lived over there and she might come any minute to cook their supper. Then number of homeless has reached 200,000.

VICKSBURG, NATCHEZ ARE NOW IN TROUBLE

By E. W. LEWIS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Vicksburg, Miss., May 2. — The Louisiana side of the river opposite Vicksburg and Natchez is now the danger point in the assault of the flood waters against the levees which confine them, the government engineer's office here admitted today.

A vast area, including the towns of Tallulah, Delta and Bedford, with thousands of inhabitants, is in danger of being inundated.

Levees at Duckport, Cabinteele and Bedford are being topped with sandbags above the 39 foot level which the river is now approaching.

Water has washed over the levee tops at several places and extreme care in watching them and piling sandbags higher wherever the water washed over has thus far prevented disaster.

The heroic effort which saved Vicksburg's transportation system Saturday, when the base of the dyke on the waterfront opened, was believed to have been completely effective.

Mattresses and bales of cotton dropped into the hole are holding the flood from the railroad yards and steamboat landing and pumps are working to remove the water which seeps through.

While refugees in most sections near Vicksburg have been removed boats continue to work their way through the inundated sections, searching for some who may have been overlooked.

Rescue workers recount scenes of horror in the flooded areas which rival instances of human suffering classic in history.

Rev. Gordon Reese, Vicksburg minister who aided in saving marooned victims along the Sunflower river, told the United Press of a village where the entire population of 217 persons was huddled in a single cabin on high ground awaiting rescue.

"They had been there three days," Rev. Reese said, "without food or good water. Whites and negroes were huddled together in the little shack and other refugees were in skiffs tied nearby."

"Sanitary conditions were impossible. They were all so desperate and eager to get away that our boat was almost overturned in getting them on board."

The rescue workers could make no attempt to save livestock from drowning. Cattle and horses stood half submerged in water, Rev. Reese said, and waited for the slowly rising flood to drown them.

Negroes were seen desperately holding the heads of their cattle above water. Some of the flood victims were almost crazed by their plight, refusing at first to leave their domed homes and possessions, then alternately weeping over their misfortune and offering prayers of thanks that their lives had been spared.

WATER RUSHING THROUGH BREAK

Natchez, Miss., May 2. — Water was rushing through a 200-yard break in the levee at Bougere, 20 miles south of here on the Louisiana side today, and sweeping southward across land already washed with backwaters.

The area as far south as the Black river is being inundated and the water is steadily spreading westward.

Water is slowly spreading northward at Vidalia, opposite Natchez, and will likely strengthen the levee and that town by exerting outward pressure to protect the levee against the inward thrust of the main current of the Mississippi.

The levees at Vidalia have caused river engineers grave worry.

The countryside being flooded today by the break at Bougere has mostly been evacuated during the past 10 days. Thousands of farm animals were driven out of the district and corralled here, while many families, fearful of the flood, moved to higher ground.

Delhi, La., May 2. — The city of Delhi today became a great refuge center for northeast Louisiana with thousands of cattle, mules and horses being driven along dusty country roads toward the city, located on a slight rise in the bottom lands.

Waters were encroaching southward from the South Bend break in the Arkansas river west of here and fear was felt for the main Mississippi river levee.

Memphis, Tenn., May 2. — Nine more refugee camps were established in Louisiana today by the Red Cross flood relief organization, to furnish refuge for the thousands of homeless who are retreating before the advance of the flood in that state.

It was estimated there will be 100,000 or more homeless in Louisiana before the flood has spent its destructive force.

Officials here admitted they expected new breaks in the levees south of Vicksburg, Miss., on the Louisiana side at any time. Large quantities of supplies and rescue boats are being gathered at the Louisiana refugee camp in readiness for impending disaster.

BOY WITH CAVED LUNGS AGAIN RALLIES

SUCCUMB DURING THE
DAY

Roanoke, Va., May 2. — (UP) — The tenacious will to live which has kept Walter L. Booth existing eleven days with caved lungs came to his rescue again today after doctors and even close personal friends had abandoned hope.

The same physicians who, following a relapse by Booth last midnight, said "He cannot live through the day," admitted this afternoon their patient had rallied and was "about the same" as he had been for days.

Sleep, even though fitful and induced by opiates, assisted the 18-year-old farm boy's improvement. Walter no longer gasped and sobbed, though he still complained of pain in his chest induced by constant pumping of his arms to give him air.

RED CROSS DRIVE, FIRST APPEAL, IS SUCCESSFUL

Washington, May 2. — (UP) — The Red Cross drive for $5,000,000 for Mississippi flood relief has gone over the top.

National headquarters here today announced the total had reached $5,040,000. A White House appeal for further funds is anticipated.

New Laugh Special Stars Eddie Cantor

Uproarious comedy with a strong flavor of melodrama, blended with a touch of pathos and a keen sense of human psychology—these are the ingredients that Eddie Cantor has used in the creation of "Special Delivery," his second starring vehicle for Paramount which opened at the Lyceum yesterday for two days' engagement. Funnier than the stage play was his screen version of "Kid Boots," but funnier still is his "Special Delivery" with its romance and experiences of a rookie postman.

Eddie Cantor in
'Special Delivery'
A Paramount Picture

The greatest circus picture ever made, "Bigger than Barnum's," will be shown Tuesday only at the Lyceum. Manager Hiller urges his patrons not to miss the screening of this brilliant tale of the sawdust ring. With an unparalleled cast that includes Ralph Lewis, Viola Dana, George O'Hara and Ralph Ince and a striking story by Arthur Guy Empey of the perils and triumphs of circus life, "Bigger than Barnum's" is undoubtedly the picture of the year.

Theory of Music

The theory of music refers to the scientific side of the art, the principles of sound. It also includes harmony, counterpoint, composition, arrangement of music for voices or instruments, rhythm, melody and every musical except playing and singing. Theory is the science of music.

Watch Your Frail Puny Child Grow Strong Take on Weight

Three months ago he was thin and frail—he had no appetite and didn't want to play with other children.

Look at him now with his robust frame, his healthy color and sparkling eyes—and just watch him eat.

Cod Liver Oil would have helped him but he couldn't take the nasty stuff—it upset his delicate stomach.

So his wise mother gave him McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and now the whole family is happy.

Give your child McCoy's. Mother, if he is weak and thin—it is rich in just the kind of vitamins he needs to build him up and if by any chance they don't help him, get your money back. 60 tablets 60 cents at Johnson's Pharmacy, Economy Drug Co. and druggists everywhere. But demand McCoy's—the original—the genuine—the guaranteed—the druggist who tries to substitute is unworthy of your confidence. —Advt.
